BULGARIA FAILS IN WAR PLANS

EFFORT TO DRIVE WEDGE BE-TWEEN SERVANS AND GREEKS A FAILURE.

NOW PRAYS FOR PEACE

APPEAL MADE TO POWERS TO STOP HOSTILITIES.

ROUMANIANS INVADE BULGARIA

Russia and France Endeavor to Persuade Allies to Adopt a Moderate Attitude.

WAR ON BULGARIA.

London, July 11.—The King of Rou-mania has declared war on Bulgaria.
The Roumanian minister at Sofia has been recalled. The Sofia correspondent of the Times sends this announcement early this morning.

London, July 10.—The end of a fort-night's desperate fighting in the Balkan finds Bulgaria forced to appeal to the powers to arrange peace. The Bulgarian plan to drive a wedge between the Greek and Servian armies in the neighborhood of Guevgheli has completely failed. The last reports of the fighting received from Athens
tonight show that the Servians and Greeks at this point are combining their forces while the Roumanian army
is beginning an invasion of Bulgaria.
The latter act doubtless was the deciding factor in the Bulgarian appeal to the powers.

How far Bulgaria's defeat is due to dispersion in high military quarters which resulted in the resignation of General Savoff, and how far to the fact that the Bulgarian troops bore
the brunt of the hard fighting in the last campaign and were more exhausted than the Greek and Servian forces,
will probably never be known.

Nothing can be predicted at this moment as to how events will shape themselves. The Roumanian invasion of Bulgaria having brought an entirely new factor into the problem.

Russia and France are devoting their efforts to persuading the allies to adopt a moderate attitude in order to facilitate a peaceful settlement. The Servian premier is quoted in the Vienna Neue Freie Presse as declaring that the war has practically set aside all treaties of alliance and peace must now be negotiated on an entirely new basis.

London, July 11.—Rumors were published in Berlin yesterday, and according to the Daily Telegraph's correspondent at Athens, were current
there, that General Ivanoff, with 50, 000 Bulgarians, was forced to surrender near Demirhisar, where fighting was proceeding for the possession of a railroad bridge over the Struma river. A later Athens dispatch to the Telegraph says that no confirmation
can be obtained.

Dispatches from the European capitals published in London severely criticizing Premier Danoff's overbearing policy as being the cause of the Bulgarian defeat, and his speedy downfall is predicted.

It is expected that Roumania's first
step will be the occupation of the 2500
square miles of territory which she claims from Bulgaria as compensation for her neutrality in the late war. This strip extends from Turtukal to Balt-

PLAN A BIGGER NAVY
IMPRESSIONS MARK CER-EMONIES COMMEMORATING
PERRY'S VICTORY.
Daniels Takes Historic Oath to Son.
Secretary of Navy Calls on Here's Widow.
Erie, Pa., July 10.—Holding in his hand a gavel fashioned of wood and iron taken from the Lawrence and Niagara, flagships of Commodore
Perry's little fleet at the battle of Put-in-Bay, Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy, today promised before a crowd gathered on the harbor
front to give it to his son, in order that he might better emulate the example of the great naval hero of the lakes.
The incident closed a remarkable demonstration in connection with Erie's Perry centennial celebration. Mr.
Daniels spoke of the importance of initiative and the value of the examples set by Lawrence, Perry and John Paul Jones.
Secretary Daniels had just taken his seat, when Senator Penrose, after arguing for a big navy, presented the gavel to Mr. Daniels.
Mr. Daniels turned impulsively to the crowd and said:
"I will take this gift to my son, so that he may be able to emulate the example of this great hero of these great lakes, and of his uncle, Worth Bagley, who gave his life for the flag on the Cuban coast."
After his address Mr. Daniels and party reviewed the naval parade. Mr.
Daniels while here today called on Mrs. Harriet Gridley, widow of Captain Charles V. P. Gridley, who commanded the Olympia at the battle of Manila Bay and who died soon afterwards. Mr. Daniels went with her to place a wreath on Captain Gridley's grave. Early in the evening the secretary departed for Washington.

RECRUIT MEN FOR SIEGE OF JUAREZ

VILLA'S CHIEF OF STAFF SEEKS SOLDIERS TO TAKE CITY OF POSITE EL PASO.

AMERICANS HELD PRISONERS

Prominent Ranchman, Nephew and Niece in Clutches of Mexicans.
American Killed.

Douglas, Ariz., July 10.—Col. Dozal,
General Villa's chief of staff, arrived
at Agua Prieta today and announced that he had come to recruit men for the siege of Juarez. He sent appeals to interior Sonora points for all available recruits to mobilize opposite this point and proceed into Chihuahua.

Two Routes by Navarrete.

Laredo, Tex., July 10.—General Telles
has just telegraphed as follows:
"I have just received correspondence from General Navarrete in which he advises that after the first clash at Candelaria July 7, in which he routed
the Carrancistas, he left a strong detachment to retake Candelaria. Navarrete then left Laredo with artillery, cavalry and infantry in automobiles and again
routed the Carrancistas for the second time, inflicting great loss in dead
and wounded and taking many prisoners. The cavalry of Navarrete is today pursuing the Carrancista forces."

American Killed by Drunk.

El Paso, July 10.—Henry Burton of Upper Montclair, N. J., was killed by a drunken rebel soldier in Santa Rosa, Chihuahua, Mexico. The body
reached here today enroute east.

General Manuel Chao, commanding
the rebel troops at Santa Rosa, has been the murderer and promised prompt justice.

Juarez Prepares for Fight.

El Paso, July 10.—Juarez fortification work continues with the rebels
no closer than for the last week, as far as is known.

United States signal corps men are stringing wires through El Paso to connect General Scott at Fort Bliss
with all American troops on border guard in the event of an attack on Juarez. Battery C, Sixth United States field artillery, this morning
made a reconnoitering trip along the boundary. It was explained that the battery was "limbering up," but heretofore all "limbering up" exercises
have been in open country several miles from El Paso.

300 Mexicans Driven.

Tucson, Ariz., July 10.—A belated communication from Guaymas in the day said that 300 constitutionalist soldiers said that 300 constitutionalist soldiers met death in an effort to swim across the river when they were pursued by a hidden Huerta force in their attempt to enter the California
gulf port.

The message states that General
Ojeda, after his retreat to the federal army.

BRYAN WAS ROASTED
SECRETARY OF STATE SAYS
THAT, LIKE COFFEE, PROCESS
IMPROVED HIM.
Is in Happy Humor at Coffee Dinner
to Noted Brazilian, Given by New York Exchange.
New York, July 10.—With Secretary of State William J. Bryan as an unexpected guest, a dinner in honor of Dr. Lauro S. Muller, Brazil's minister of foreign affairs, was given tonight by the coffee trade of America.
Dr. Muller arrived here this evening,
having completed his tour of the country.
Dr. Muller, discussing reciprocity
and the tariff as affecting the trade
with his country, declared the necessity exists for a line of steamships
direct to Brazil, with reasonable freight rates and regular traffic. The Brazilian minister thanked the president and the people of the country for their reception of him.
The speakers tonight included Mr.
Bryan, Dudley Field Malone, third
assistant secretary of state, and William Payne Jr., president of the new exchange.
Commenting on a visit he made to a coffee plantation in Brazil, Mr. Bryan said:
"It is fitting that you who represent the coffee roasters are here, because I have been the worst roasted person in the country, and, like coffee, I am told, I am the better for roasting."
A diner called out the suggestion that the secretary substitute coffee for grape juice as the national beverage.
"I believe in double standard," rejoined Mr. Bryan, smiling, "I use both."

WILL QUIZ ALL LABOR'S WARS

LOBBY QUIZ WILL TAKE IN AF-FAIRS OF WORKMAN AND CAPITALIST.

GOMPERS TO TESTIFY

OTHER PROMINENT MEN WILL BE SUBPOENAED.

WILL REHASH FAMOUS TRIAL

Possible Quest Will Go Back to Mc-Namara Dynamiting Cases—Finishes Wool and Sugar Today.

New York, July 10.—The case of David Lamar, his impersonation of United States senators and congressmen in connection with the so-called unprofitable conspiracy, was placed before the federal grand jury today by District Attorney Marshall. All the testimony taken in the case before the senate lobby investigation was given to the jury and Lewis Cass Ladyard,
one of the principal witnesses before
the jury, was called to testify personally.

His examination was not completed
today. United States District Attorney Marshall purposes also to call United States Senators Stone and Representatives Palmer and Riordan.

Under the law the government cannot use the testimony before the senate committee as a basis for criminal prosecution, but can use it as a guide.

Mr. Marshall is conducting the inquiry in the belief that section 32 of the federal criminal code has been violated in the matter of impersonation,
in that "in a general and broad sense"
senators and representatives are government officers.

Washington, July 10.—All the "wars"
that have been fought between labor and capital, all the efforts that both have made to secure legislation which would profit them and the tangled skein of laws, are to be investigated by congress. The senate lobby investigating committee tonight decided that the "wars" must be inquired into.

At the same time, the committee
subpoenaed George Pope and J. P.
Bird of the National Association of Manufacturers.

As the tale is unfolded, other men
prominent in either labor organizations or associations of manufacturers or individual employers of labor who are brought to notice will be asked to appear. The committee decided to look into this subject, believing that it may develop startling information and knowing it will extend their inquiry many weeks.

Dynamiting Rehash.

One senator said tonight that the quest might reach back into some of the dark corners of the McNamara
dynamiting case and might bring to the light the inside story of many of the street strikes which have paralyzed industries and thrown thousands out of work in the last few years. He intimated, too, that it might develop by far more marvelous stories than the strong tales the committee has heard
the last six weeks.

The committee expects to finish
with the investigation of wool and sugar tomorrow and will take up the charges made by Martin M. Mulhall, former "lobbyist" for the National Association of Manufacturers. Mulhall will take the stand tomorrow afternoon
and his examination may take several days.

The committee decided tonight to grant a request from the association to be represented by counsel. It decided also not to turn over the Mul-
hall papers to the house special investigating committee until it has finished with them, although Chairman Garret
asked for them today.

Mulhall Told to Leave.
Chairman Overman heard a report
tonight that Mulhall had been told to get out of Washington. Mulhall did not know who made the threat. Mr.
Overman said steps would be taken to protect Mulhall, if necessary, by delegating a deputy sergeant at arms
to guard him.

The senate committee spent practically all of today on wool. William Whitman, former president of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers; Winthrop L. Marvin, its secretary; and Thomas O. Marvin, secretary of the Home Market club, all of Boston, were the witnesses.

Thomas O. Marvin testified that the Home Club, with membership of between 800 and 1000, raised about $17,000
last year and that its object was to teach the doctrine of protection. It was not a political, but an economic organization, he said.

He testified that the club had sent out in twenty-five years more than 100,000 pamphlets containing protective arguments, but had never used
"insidious" or "illegitimate" means to influence legislation. He said he received $25,500 a year for his services
and had spent much time in Washington while the present tariff bill was pending.

Members Submit Arguments.
Many members of the club, who are manufacturers, he said, submitted tariff arguments.

TARIFF CONFLICTS WITH RECIPROCITY

REPUBLICANS CLAIM THAT NEW MEASURE WILL REPEAL 1911 PACT.

PRINT PAPER IS BOOMERANG

Smoot Alleges That Clause Disagree-Battle to Be Waged on This Point.

Washington, July 10.—That the provision of the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill levying a duty of 12 per cent ad
valorem on print paper valued at more than 2½ cents and no more than 4 cents a pound, may repeal a portion of the reciprocity act of 1911, is contended
in the analysis of the measure prepared under direction of Senator Smoot, Republican member of the finance committee. If it does not operate to repeal the law, it is contended, there will be two rates in controversy on this grade of paper.

Besides the duty of 12 per cent ad
valorem the democratic bill will impose a countervailing act in retaliation for export license fee or charges in the charges imposed by a foreign country.

An interesting point to consider,"
the Smoot analysis sets forth, "is the effect of the enactment of this paragraph on the portion of the Canadian reciprocity act, which admits to entry
free of duty paper imported from Canada valued at not more than four cents per pound. With respect to print paper valued at more than 2½ and not more than 4 cents per pound, it is manifest there is a complete repugnance between the two statutes, for by the terms of one, the act of 1911, it is free of duty and by the terms of the tariff bill it is subject to a duty of 12 cents. Nor can the two statutes be construed as standing together. Under such circumstances the rule of law is that the statute of later date must prevail over the earlier statute and that consequently the earlier statute stands repealed by implication.

On this point of the floor of the senate.
Tomorrow the tariff bill will be reported to the senate, but the majority report favoring the measure will not be presented by Chairman Simmons until Monday. If Republican leaders do not press for more time in which to consider the measure, general debate
also will begin Monday. This question will be decided at a meeting of the full membership of the finance committee tomorrow morning.

First 1913 Bale Sold in Houston

Houston, July 10.—The first bale of the 1913 cotton crop was ginned
at Lyford, Cameron county, Texas, Wednesday afternoon and at once exposed to William D. Cleveland & Sons of Houston, where it arrived this morning. The proceeds have been deposited to the building funds of the Methodist and Baptist churches of Ly-ford. Assurance is given that every fiber of the bale is of this year's growth of cotton.

Woman Downes Her Two Step-Children

Nashville, Tenn., July 10.—A special
from Union City says that Mrs. James
Yates, who, with her 15-year-old daughter, Florence Paris, was placed
in jail here this afternoon on a charge
of murder, has confessed to
drowning her two step-children, Ligon
Yates, aged 12, and Ida May Yates,
aged 10. In the alleged confession,
Mrs. Yates is said to have stated
that her husband and step-children
had mistreated her and that her act
was in a spirit of retaliation.

DR. S. P. BROOKS DECLINES PLACE

CANNOT SERVE ON BOARD.
SELEY CONSIDERING.—HAR-RIS ACCEPTS.

Dr. S. P. Brooks wrote Governor Colquitt yesterday declining appointment
to the board of managers of the state
institution for the training of juveniles, Gatesville. The educator was desirous of undertaking this important work,
according to his friends, but his university and other duties were so numerous that he considered he could not find the time from his regular work
to give to the governance of the state
institution the attention it demands.

W. W. Seley is still considering acceptance of his appointment to the board and expects to determine the matter by Saturday. General Felix H.
Robertson, of Crawford, has just returned from the Confederate Veterans reunion at Gettysburg, and has not decided concerning the appointment. M.
M. Harris has written the governor accepting appointment and has qualified.
Davis R. Hall, of Gatesville, president of the last board of managers,
and reappointed under the new law,
will call a meeting of the new board at the institution for July 18, if convenient to the appointees, to organize for the coming term and discuss appropriate matters prior to the convening of the special session of the legislature.

Dr. Brooks yesterday wrote Mr. Harris: "Be assured of my interest as a citizen in the work being done at Gatesville and my personal regret at not being able to aid in furthering the work in the making there. I hold for Mr. Eddins, the superintendent, the highest appreciation and believe in his policies thoroughly."

Dallas Train Runs Over Aged Stranger

Dallas, July 10.—While crossing the tracks of the Houston and Texas Central railway at Bryan street and Central avenue Thursday at noon, an aged white man, who could not be identified, was run down and killed. The engine was drawing several cars and they all passed over his body, which was lying over one of the rails. It was cut half in two at the abdomen. Death was instantaneous.

Fourteen Mexican War Heroes Meet

London, Ohio, July 10.—America's oldest living war veterans, survivors
of the Mexican war, today opened their annual national encampment in this city. Only fourteen of the old soldiers were physically able to attend—the most of them are blind and deaf or feeble with age. The encampment is being held under the auspices of the Ohio G. A. R. and veterans were addressed tonight by George S. Burda, secretary to Governor Cox. This afternoon they went on an automobile trip.

Woman Downes Her Two Step-Children

Nashville, Tenn., July 10.—A special
from Union City says that Mrs. James
Yates, who, with her 15-year-old
daughter, Florence Paris, was placed
in jail here this afternoon on a charge
of murder, has confessed to
drowning her two step-children, Ligon
Yates, aged 12, and Ida May Yates,
aged 10. In the alleged confession,
Mrs. Yates is said to have stated
that her husband and step-children
had mistreated her and that her act
was in a spirit of retaliation.

Panama Says U. S. Has Defaulted Debt

Washington, July 10.—Panama wants the first installment of the $250,000
annual rental the United States promised to pay for the Isthmian canal zone and financial agents for the republic, in their urgent application
for money virtually have suggested that the American government has defaulted in its obligations. Secretary Bryan has held up the payment which was due February 16 last and for which congress provided in the urgent deficiency bill.

No explanation has been forthcoming from the state department, but it is understood that the secretary is inclined to make no payment pending
the outcome of negotiations with Colombia regarding that country's claim for the indemnification of Panama.

The tri-partite treaties negotiated
by Secretary Root for the purpose of reconciling Colombia for the loss of Panama, it was proposed to turn over the canal zone rental to Colombia for a period.

Both Panama Minister Morales and Colombian Minister Betancourt called at the state department today.

Exorbitant Rates.

Washington, July 10.—An investigation by the interstate commerce commission of the financial operations of the New York Central lines as proposed today in a resolution adopted by the senate without debate when introduced by Senator Norris of Nebraska.

The resolution, if concurred in by the house, will direct the commission to report upon the issue by the New York Central and Hudson River Railway company of four per cent mortgage bonds to take up 3½ per cent Michigan Central bonds amounting to $19,356,000,
Lake Shore and Michigan Southern bonds amounting to $20,578,400, and New York Central 4 per cent debenture
bonds amounting to $47,188,000.

The commission will be asked to report also whether the transaction
would not be an unwarranted and illegal capitalization of the railroad concerned, whether the purpose of the consolidation would not be unwarranted and unlawful; and whether the increased interest is necessary, even if the consolidation be unobjectionable.

Senator Norris had prepared data which showed that the 3½ per cent bonds don't expire for 85 years, and that exchange of 4 for 3½ per cent dollar for dollar, would saddle on to the lines as an additional debt upon which shippers must pay rates equivalent to $36,773,620.

TO BIND DEMOCRATS

FEW CHANGES IN NEW CUR-RENCY BILL—CAUCUS MIDDLE OF NEXT WEEK.

Bulkeley Sub-committee Report Has Little Effect Until Measure Finally Agreed Upon by All Parties.

Washington, July 10.—The democratic majority of the house committee on banking and currency made fair
progress on the administration currency bill today. No change of substantial importance was made and a general disposition to get together as quickly as possible was evinced. Committee members said that at the presented rate of consideration, the bill might be completed by the middle of next week, to be followed in the middle of the next week by a democratic caucus with a view to binding the house democrats to the measure as it comes out of the committee.

The bill is being considered in executive "conferences." The adoption of the Bulkeley subcommittee report in favor of open sessions for all committee and subcommittee meetings will have no effect until the bill receives the stamp of approval of the democratic majority and the republican and progressive members of the committee are called in.

Camber of Commerce Work.

Washington, July 10.—Late tonight
the currency and banking committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in special session here
still was working on a report on the administration currency bill to be telegraphed tomorrow to the organizations' directors.

The committee was said to be unanimous in its conclusion that the stockholders in the proposed system of federal reserve banks should have a larger voice in the management and probably would recommend enlargement of the controlling federal reserve
board and the creation of a stockholders' body similar to that under the German banking system.

Austin, July 10.—Alleging that the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway company, the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway company of Texas, the Dallas, Cleburne and Southwestern Railway company, the Denison, Bonham and New Orleans Railway company, and the Texas Central Railway company had each violated the antitrust statute, the attorney general's department today filed an amendment to its original suit against the Katy railroad, asking for penalties amounting to $15,000,000 for the alleged violations.

The state by this amendment made
the parent company, the Katy of Kansas, and other corporations, parties to the suit. None of the allegations made in the original petition as to the consolidation are abandoned.

Violation of the Texas general office law requiring officers to reside in the city wherein is located the general offices of the respective companies, is also alleged.

Form Trust and Monopoly.
Assistant Attorney General Luther Nickels in speaking of the amendment,
stated:

"In brief, the foundation of the alleged cause of action for violation of the trust statutes is that the purpose of the default consolidation of the various companies now forming the Katy system was conceived by the Kansas company for the purpose of forming a trust and monopoly in the transportation business in Texas and for the purpose of affecting, lessening and suppressing competition in that business;
that all of the unlawful acts and conduct have been performed within the state of Texas for the purpose of affecting the commerce and the to commerce of the state, and that among other things, the consolidation and other acts have affected such commerce and aids, and have lessened and suppressed competition in the following respects:

"Transportation Cost Increased.
The movement or routing of passengers and freight destined to or from
and between points within the state by railway transportation has been so restricted in a large number of instances
so as to cause the same to move over the lines of one or all of the defendants, irrespective of the interests of the public and the passenger shipper,
whereas under normal and competitive conditions the same would have moved over the lines of other railway companies.

"The cost of such transportation has
in this way been affected and increased
both to the shipper and to the public.
"The time lost or consumed in the movement of such traffic has thus been increased, resulting in loss of time to the passenger and shipper and in many instances in damage to property shipped."

"The other carriers of the state by such means have been deprived of traffic and revenue to which they were naturally entitled and which they would have received under normal and competitive conditions."

All Violate Statutes.
"And that whenever necessary to the accomplishment of such purpose the cost of the transportation of passengers and freight have been reduced and the loss of revenue therefrom has been made up to the defendants by imposing higher rates and poorer service
in other places and instances."

"That by these and other means, the commerce of the state has been affected,
lessened and suppressed."

It is said that the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway company, the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway company of Texas, the Dallas, Cleburne
and Southwestern Railway company,
the Denison, Bonham and New Orleans Railway company and the Texas Central Railroad company have each violated the trust statute for about 1,130
days; that the Bea

SHERIFFS END MEET

CORPUS CHRISTI SELECTED AS 1914 MEETING PLACE—CRANE MADE PRESIDENT.

Miss Kirk Again Selected Secretary—Harmony Rules Supreme Over Convention.

Austin, July 10.—Selecting Corpus Christi as the place of meeting on August 6, 7 and 8, 1914, electing W. R. Crane of Kaufman county president, W. L. Wright of Wilson county as vice president and Miss Lydia M. Kirk again secretary-treasurer, the Texas Sheriffs' association today closed its meeting. The sheriffs had adjourned three days in Austin, dividing the time between business and pleasure.

The fight for the 1914 convention resolved itself into a contest between Corpus Christi and Beaumont, with Sheriff John Tobin of San Antonio and Sheriff Giles of Beaumont leading the two factions. It was a friendly scrap and Giles showed his ability to take defeat when he arose and gave the signal for his supporters to do likewise and make the vote unanimous for Corpus Christi.

Harmony ruled supreme over the convention throughout the last day's session. Perhaps the most important action taken was to change the constitution and by-laws so as to give ample protection to the association with regard to the insurance feature. The rules were changed to read that no persons save an active peace officer under the age of 55 years is eligible to membership in the association.

B. L. GILL PROMOTES CLERKS

Last Act of Commissioner of Insurance and Banking is to Reward Employees.

Austin, July 10.—B. L. Gill, commissioner of insurance and banking, today announced promotions and additions to his department. L. K. Roberts of Dallas was appointed a state bank examiner, effective August 1. He has been head clerk. Z. D. Bonner, present general clerk, succeeds him. Byron R. Smith, cashier of the Farmers and Merchants' State bank of Krum, will come to the department as assistant bank clerk to succeed Clyde B. Payne, who will become a bank examiner.

Charles V. Johnson, chief clerk of the department, will act as head clerk to the department until a successor for Mr. Gill is appointed.

Medical College Elects.
Fort Worth, July 10.—Dr. Bacon Saunders was elected president and Dr. I. C. Chase dean of the Fort Worth Medical college at a faculty meeting last night. Dr. R. C. Gilmour was chosen vice president.

THE WEEKLY DANCE AT COUNTRY CLUB

The twenty or more couples with chaperones in plenty who took them to the Country club for the regular weekly dance, report that the only cool spot in this intense heat was found. The dancers were really loath to return to the city. Quite a number of visitors were present, other than the club members. A very pleasant, yet altogether informal, evening was spent.

ORPHANAGE PLAYGROUND TO MEET THIS AFTERNOON

Those who are promoting the raising of the thousand dollars with which to equip the orphanage with playground apparatus are to meet at the library this afternoon at 5 o'clock. It is urged that all who have enlisted all who feel a sympathy with the move, and friends of the institution, make an effort to be present, in order to stimulate enthusiasm by presence. Many have expressed interest. Will not these be present at this meeting?

MISS VASHTIE HUBBY HAS PARTY OF GUESTS

Between Thursday and Sunday Miss Vashtie Hubby is entertaining a party of girl friends. These have bowls at the Huaco club this morning and a dance informally in the Hubby home this evening. Other gaiety will evolve. Miss Hubby, chaperoned by her grandmother, Mrs. Thomas, is chaperone to her home in the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Hubby on the coast. This is rather the case of the mice enjoying life in the absence of the proverbial cat. The guests for this week end coming together are: Misses Laila Fay Lacy, Edwina Sturgis, Ruth Hubby, Grace Cox, Mildred Smith, Susie Edmond and Mary Farrell.

MISS EDWINA STURGIS HAS HER CARD CLUB

The Girls' Bridge club is rather depleted in members since the general going away for the season. Yet the girls home from college make an agreeable offset, and these are joining in the Wednesday games. Miss Edwina Sturgis was the present week's hostess. The usual game of bridge whiled the morning. The prize award found the Misses Lucile Lewis and Dorothy Lake the favored players. Mrs. Joseph Shelton was matron of the game. Those who played are: The Misses Sallie Thompson, Lucile Lewis, Mary Shelton, Pauline McLendon, Lena Beard of Cleburne, Fay Clinton, Westbrook of Laredo, Dorothy Lake, Charlebel Turner, Mary Farrell, Frances Hays and Ethel Foster.

MISS ALETHEA SLEEPER FOR MISS MARY SLEEPER

For a month Miss Mary Sleeper of Abilene, was the guest of her relatives here. The most of this time was spent with Miss Alethea Sleeper. Upon the eve of her departure Miss Sleeper was hostess for her cousin by inviting the boys and girls with whom she had enjoyed the month. It had been arranged that progressive games of Jackstraws, buncie, pig and such should generate the jollity of the parlors. But the heat drove all to the lawn, where, lantern lit, it was cool and inviting. Some lawn games were indulged, some gathered indoors again for music and song. Punch with cake was served all the evening. Dancing, though, proved the most popular diversion amid all this pleasant. Mrs. William Sleeper and Miss Ada Risher were present to direct the transition in a good time. About thirty were afforded this last evening with the popular vacation visitor, who is now with friends in Waxahachie. Those present were: Misses Camille Searcy, Fay Smith, Florrie Neale Cooper, Dorothy Cox, Lucella Elliott, Charlotte Shumate, Loney Tyler, Lois Smith, Adrienne Wilkes, Clarence Bruce Brewster, Florence Patten, Janet Matthews, with Revilo Winchell, B. Gabriel Harman, Jerold Shumate, William Neale, Ben Lee Boynton, M. D. Dugger, Raymond Montgomery, Ludwell Lincoln, Phil Meade, Ben Milam, Howard Cox, Paul Hays and Douglass Hamilton.

MRS. HUDMAN TAYLOR HAS THE MERRY MATRONS

Quite the largest of the midsummer meetings of the Merry Matrons came with so agreeable a hostess as Mrs. Hudman Taylor. As hostess for her club, Mrs. Taylor took opportunity to compliment a visitor, Mrs. Gould Baker, from Pittsburg, Kansas, and to introduce to her some personal friends not yet within the Merry Matron portal. The game of forty-two was provided, the progressions leading through five tables. Dainty little score cards were used, and the count upon these gave the lead to Mrs. F. A. Winchell. There was a special honor for favor. The rooms were freshened with cooling foliage. Quite the most popular guest of the afternoon was the great-niece, Anna Lewis Beckley. The cooling cream with cake was offered at the close of the game. This being altogether a social session, time was not taken to arrange for the next meeting of the club. It was all very pleasant with Mrs. Taylor and several of her friends dropped in after the game. Her guest list reads: Miss Purnan of Pennsylvania, with the Mesdames Baker, R. V. McClain, C. D. Bullock, John Dockery, E. H. Harden, J. M. Hale, P. H. Gorman, Walter Reese, O. K. Stetler, Fred Robinson, T. W. Robertson, F. M. Olmpton, Purnan, G. W. Oliver, J. D. Oliver, Jessie Gray Smith, T. F. Bryan, J. N. Gallagher, B. L. Cartwright, Alex Johnson, F. A. Winchell, Lee Smythe, J. R. Davis, J. W. Dodson, Wright Edmondson, B. B. Bray, Frank Horsfield, Albert Harris and Edgar Taylor.

BISHOP JOHNSTONE PREACHES STRONG SERMON

Last Sunday morning in San Antonio Bishop Johnstone scored present day dress and its influence upon the girls of today. He denounced present styles as immodest and as having the tendency to lower the standard of modesty in the girls who will be the mothers of the future. This sermon seems to have created a strong impression, and the San Antonio Express of Tuesday reports considerable discussion among the women. For the most part the women are pleased, and agree heartily with all said in the pulpit. Some felt that the bishop was too abrupt and too severe in some of his remarks. The Express undertook personal interviews with leading women and gave to the public what was said. The present day dances were scored with unglowed hands, so to speak. It seems, after reading the article, that conditions are the same in San Antonio as in Waco concerning the Tango, the Turkey Trot and their allied dances. That condition is that the abuse is not general; there are young girls and men who are dignified at all times. It is the few, unrestrained by their mothers, and naturally hoydenish, who have rendered liable to harsh criticism the many. One of the prominent women of San Antonio said she not only approved every word in Bishop Johnstone's sermon, but she hoped more of the same kind would follow. Mrs. S. C. Newton, mother of Mrs. Clinton Padgett of this city, was strong in her endorsement of the attack upon present day indiscretions. Mrs. Newton gave the sensible thought that if more mothers would denounce these questionable dances from their daughters, they would very soon stop, for the men can not dance them alone. The idea is that a few high-minded, determined mothers have the power to regulate the social life. And they certainly have. Another supporter of every word from Bishop Johnstone was Mrs. T. A. Coleman, than whom no woman in all San Antonio is more prominent socially. Mrs. Coleman stands for decent dances and less dances. The sermon was published on Sunday, so that it was read and discussed for beyond it impossible to exaggeration to which it was delivered. Surf bathing was included. Indeed, dancing and bathing seemed the leading social customs which demand reform.

Now that one would have proclaimed, why not others? This circumstance shows that the sensible, conservative stand for the decent, discreet, modest social life.

Society Notes.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. M. South of Chicago, Ill., who were formerly Miss Anne Winters, are having a second summer with Mr. Smith's relatives in Ireland. They visit other points in Europe.

Mrs. J. W. McLendon, who spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. O. H. Cross, Fourteenth and Austin, is again at home in Austin, making ready for a late July departure for the North Carolina mountains.

Cards have come from Mrs. William Breustedt bearing the postmark of Portland, Maine. Mrs. Breustedt is near the camp which Miss Pauline Breustedt has joined. She remains absent until early October, and leaves Miss Breustedt in the school of the Misses Smith at Philadelphia, preparatory to Bryn Mawr.

Mrs. Frank Miller and daughters are again at Ephraim, Wis., this being their third season of rest in this cool spot.

Letters have come recently from Mr. and Mrs. Ed Stone, who have been absent from this, their former home, for some time. Mr. and Mrs. Stone are prospering in Montana, have a beautiful home, a private automobile for pleasure tours, and other conveniences of life in the West. Mrs. Stone is recalled as Miss Carrie Brin.

Mrs. Josephine McLennan Badger has sent the old home friends cards during her automobile tour with Mr. Badger from their home in Cleveland into Canada. They were accompanied by friends, and return home to be joined this week by W. N. Orand, Jr., from here, for an automobile trip over to New York City.

Since these days when the straight lines are in vogue, we have come into a new term for describing our draperies as falling "formally." There was a time when these fell gracefully, but that word seems gone from woman's fashion.

If you have no place to pack your heavy draperies, make linen slips in which to encase them. This really is less trouble than to remove and rehang.

A head rest on the post porch chair is one of the summer luxuries. This can be covered with laundry material. Cupid's census shows a decided gain of summer over winter engagements. In October the returns of summer begin to come in. Waco will be included.

Mrs. William Mistrot will, with the coming week, welcome friends into her new home, out at Highlands. No definite date is yet announced for the marriage of Miss Elsie Simmons and Dr. Roddy of Cameron.

Now that the leisure days are here, is it not a good idea to take one's calling list? This means to take name, new address, if change has been made, telephone number, new and old, and street number. This will save a world of mistake and delay when the rush of a social season is on. Several cases occurred last winter where luncheon guests went to a former residence of hostess, and thus became late at the luncheon. Other like mistakes occurred. Now is the time to prevent such. Many are moving, and a revision of street addresses is imperative.

Are you going out to Carroll chapel to hear Dr. Musulman speak on the Montessori method of teaching, tonight? You should be present. The address is altogether complimentary.

A cabaret for Waco, how city-like this sounds! This is what has been mentioned for the remodeled Provident building in which the Morning News is to have its new home. The cabaret is quite the feature of the swell city tea rooms and evening resorts.

MR. ABBOTT'S TASK.
Says the Houston Post:
In speaking of the American Association of Dairy, Food and Drug officials which recently held its sixteenth annual meeting in Mobile, Commissioner J. S. Abbott, of Texas, first vice president of the association, says it developed at the meeting that in the efficient application of the pure food laws to the protective purposes for which they are designed Texas is far ahead of most of the States. This, he says, is due to the fact that the present governor of the State does not inject any politics into the organization of the food and drug department, but nevertheless manifests a sympathetic interest in the enforcement of the law with reason and justice. That is testimony which, let us hope, may be said of all future governors of the State.
Let us hope this, certainly. If Texas leads the land in efficient application of the pure food laws it may be due to the governor's non-political sympathetic interest or it may be due, as we prefer to think it is, to the fact that Texas has the most able food and drug commissioner among all the States and he has an able, energetic and untrammelled squad of analysts and regular inspectors. We would not quibble over proximate and remote cause; if the governor does not interfere politically with the organization of Mr. Abbott's department it may be this accounts for the State's possession of a good department, but it cannot be quite the explanation of the merit of the work Mr. Abbott and his associates have recorded among State departments.
But our mind is not altogether clear as to the significance of the words, "efficient application of the pure food laws to the protective purposes for which they are designed." If the commissioner means he and his associates apply the laws efficiently to the preparation and sale of all human food, all substance that goes into the stomach through the usual anatomic course, as generally and as strictly as the laws and interpretations thereof, they get from the attorney general, will permit, we agree most heartily. If he means that the State's and the Nation's food and drug acts are generally applied for the protection of our health, apart from his own announced and demanded applications—in brief, if he means the Texas food and drug statute is generally enforced, we do not agree at all. We think the state generally would be surprised and interested if Mr. Abbott would write on the back of a postal card the names of the county and city prosecutors, health authorities, and law-enforcement-charged authorities of every designation, whom he knows act voluntarily in enforcing this law for the protection of public health and ordinary business dealings, and give the list to the press for publication. And another card, unless we are greatly mistaken, would contain the names of those public health authorities in Texas who have offered to co-operate with his department in making the food and drugs sellers of their communities prepare and display their goods under clean, sanitary conditions.
Let's see: The Texas food and drug department has a field force of five men, including the commissioner. They must "cover" the great State; their task is as much greater as the task of this department in other States in proportion as Texas is greater than all other States. At best, they can visit the larger cities but three or four times a year on regular inspections; on other visits they are testifying in prosecutions and making special inspections of conditions concerning which they have been particularly advised. Their work is worth twice the salary they are paid. Women's clubs have not succeeded appreciably in getting local food sellers to respect the law or local authorities to co-operate with Abbott and his men in enforcing it. An handful of health officers, city chemists and like officials through the State co-operate as special inspectors, but they are rare exceptions. There is a great deal of talk, a great deal of resolution-adopting, a great deal of applause for Abbott when he addresses a convention of women or food makers, but precious little actual co-operation. The actual enforcement of the food and drugs act is in the hands of Commissioner Abbott and four men, in some 225 counties. Just how much can we expect them to accomplish; how much can they accomplish?

We cannot conclude the commissioner means the law is generally enforced for "protection" in Texas. We have observed closely in all the larger cities, especially, and we cannot conclude this. Dirty methods of serving food on the part of Negro and imported waiters still obtain in public eating places. Few drug shops have clean facilities for washing glasses at their soda fountains—their mixologists handle ice with their fingers from tank into glasses. It is still the minority of instances that food is screened from dirt, dust and germs in shops and restaurants. The public is indifferent and the average proprietor's only thought is to get the money as cheaply and rapidly as he can get it. Women's clubs are still adopting resolutions, however, and county attorneys, justices of the peace and appointed health authorities are still dependent on the good will of these keepers of dirty places for their votes and votes for their political patrons. A prosecution of a shopkeeper in a Texas city for violating the pure food law is as popular with the average county prosecutor as a polecat at a picnic. Mr. Abbott knows this. Mr. Abbott and his men don't get around as often as they ought, but they are on duty as often as they can be, in all quarters.
No, the food and drugs act is not generally enforced in Texas in the most prominent sources of food supply, the shop and the restaurant. Ideas and ideals of cleanliness in the conduct of these places are still at a premium. Occasionally the commissioner makes the mistake of announcing the whereabouts of his inspection. He finds places cleaned against the visit; when he leaves town the screens again are permitted to come off the counters and boxes and Felix of the weird vocabulary at the lunch counter, again handles prepared food with his fingers.
Mr. John Simpson Abbott is the best food commissioner any State is blessed with, but his task is too great. He needs about twenty regular inspectors and the State needs a few more county attorneys and health officials with whom statute books are more important than poll tax lists.

PROBES TO ORDER?

The last chapter of David Lamar's story to the senate lobby inquiry had a deal that was almost farcical and as a whole it was a weak narrative of the personal motives of a wily but weak schemer. But enough substance must remain in the minds of most men, we think, out of the contributions of Lamar and Lauterbach to convince that our congressmen, some of them, are not wholly unacquainted with the desires and purposes of those who, with no legitimate connection with congressional action, would be directly benefited by such action in the nature of investigations; who serve their own ends by supplying the "inspiration" for such business inquiries however innocently the congressmen investigating these may be acting. The fact remains that in some cases the investigations, or legislative action, with which Lamar's tale connected himself, did eventuate—the steel trust inquiry, for example.
Much of the real results of all these charges, or unsavory "connection" of names, must depend on how much credence the committee, and the public, will give the detailing of Mulhall's expensive story that was printed in New York and Chicago newspapers. The stories of Lamar and Lauterbach, as we have taken occasion to comment before, lose nearly all their force in the revelation of the pretences and expedients resorted to by these weak schemers, some of which are nothing more than absurd. Lamar's free use of officials' names counts for little, because he himself has deprecated and dismissed the effect of that use as counting against the character of the congressmen and political leaders. However, the fact that these "probes to order," as some will be impelled to regard them, look to be something more than mere coincidences will have some bearing on the later testimony based on the Mulhall story. The public is still very anxious to know exactly what connection with the cause of this or that action by congress the activity of the lobby has had in the past several sessions. The "insidious lobby" charge has been established several weeks but the extent of insidiousness still must be determined.
Henry D. McDonald, Esq., all praise to him! told the Texas bar association that the district judiciary of this State doesn't measure up to the standard of other days, and that he really believes in a system that would permit the justices of the supreme court to name the district judges. But why not the governor? Other States where, in superior and circuit court judges are named by the executive do not have mediocre benches. Even where appointment is reward for political aid, the governor would hardly dare to name a man not fitted to preside over a jury tribunal. As a rule, and the exceptions thereto are very rare, an executive's judicial appointments are a matter of distinct pride with him. We are, we ever have been first, last and always for an appointive judiciary. Does Col. McDonald consider Texas ever can have an high-standard district judiciary under its detrimental biennial elective system? Scrambling for office is the curse of the bench and the bane of a people who must respect the courts if this is to be in verity a government of laws.
The young bride and groom in New Jersey who attempted suicide because pater cut off his allowance were college graduates and it seems strange they had never come across that inspiring oration beginning, "The dignity of labor, consider its achievements!"
Illinois's new law of partial suffrage for women "must be tested in the courts." Must the popular statute ever come in for the same sort of wobbly treatment accorded the average law that benefits some corporation?

AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS.

According to the official figures of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, department of commerce, agricultural products form but 48 per cent of the domestic exports of the United States in the fiscal year 1912, against 51 per cent in 1910, 62 per cent in 1909, 75 per cent in 1890 and 84 per cent in 1880. This change in the percentage which agricultural products form of the total exports is due, not to an actual decrease in the value of that class of merchandise sent out of the country, but to the much larger increase in the value of manufactures exported. The value of agricultural products exported shows an actual gain from $64,000,000 value in the fiscal year 1880 to approximately $1,200,000,000 in 1913, the figures for 1913 being slightly in excess of those of any earlier year and showing an increase of about 70 per cent over those for 1880. On the other hand, manufactures exported amounted in 1880 to $122,000,000 and for the current year will approximate $1,200,000,000, an increase of over 800 per cent, against a gain of about 70 per cent in agricultural products. The term "manufactures" as herein used includes the groups "manufactures for further use in manufacturing" and "manufactures ready for consumption," but omits the group "food-stuffs partly or wholly manufactured," some of which latter are included in the above total of agricultural products exported.
The chief agricultural products exported are raw cotton, meats, wheat, corn, tobacco, live animals and fruits; cotton alone forming one-half of the grand total of agricultural exports. Cotton exports made their highest record in 1911, and for the first ten months of the current fiscal year the $45,000,000 below the high record figure for the corresponding period of that year. Meat and dairy products exported made their highest record in 1906, $211,000,000, and for the full current year will approximate $150,000,000. Exports of wheat, including flour, amounted to $237,000,000 in 1912, the high record year, and in 1913 will approximate $140,000,000. Exports of unmanufactured tobacco will show a larger total in 1913 than in any earlier year. Exports of live animals show a striking reduction, the total for 1913 being approximately $9,000,000 in value, against $52,000,000 in 1901, the high record year. Fruits and nuts make their high-export record in 1913, the total for the year being approximately $37,000,000 against $31,000,000 in 1912, the former high-record year.

PROBES TO ORDER?

The last chapter of David Lamar's story to the senate lobby inquiry had a deal that was almost farcical and as a whole it was a weak narrative of the personal motives of a wily but weak schemer. But enough substance must remain in the minds of most men, we think, out of the contributions of Lamar and Lauterbach to convince that our congressmen, some of them, are not wholly unacquainted with the desires and purposes of those who, with no legitimate connection with congressional action, would be directly benefited by such action in the nature of investigations; who serve their own ends by supplying the "inspiration" for such business inquiries however innocently the congressmen investigating these may be acting. The fact remains that in some cases the investigations, or legislative action, with which Lamar's tale connected himself, did eventuate—the steel trust inquiry, for example.

Votes (Our) for These Women.
New York frequently does Texas a service other than financial. While Joe Ransome, editor of Cleburne Enterprise, is New Yorking on business Mrs. Joe is writing helpful civic progress editorials for Cato's town—and Joe need not hurry back with any idea that the column needs him. While Master Lloyd Peruchino Lochridge, juv. ed. of Austin Statesman, and Mistress Lochridge are New Yorking on pleasure, Mrs. Charles Stephenson is sacrificing herself to maintain and improve his paragraph column, adding to the pleasure she gives by her ordering of the women's page. There is no editorial reason (and, after the 33rd's regular season in Austin, we think there is no financial reason) why Peruchino should not prolong his education in civilization; if Austin is too far for a return to "die at home at last," he can always get to Yonkers.
Happily Hit On.
"Viewpoint of Nation—what contemporaries are discussing in both light and serious vein, from politics to hen fruit" is San Antonio Express's heading of its reprint column on its new, summer-garbed editorial page. Not to do Butler or Sullivan an injustice, but we think they must have hit on the apt association merely. With more hen fruit of the prevailing sort directed at and to politicians of the prevailing sort there would be a different sort of politics prevailing.
Up to Us All.
Clarksville Times gathers that an Houston judge "is scoring the newspapers of the Bayou City for not acquainting the public with the unsanitary condition of the city. Fortunately," it congratulates itself, "no one has scored the Times on this account, although the Times admits that it might be possible to find some unpardonable places in Clarksville, if a thorough search were instituted." If that's the case, how to account for the fact that the Times has escaped the scoring? There is always a citizen, or two, or six, in every town who wants the place kept clean. Come to think of it, Col. Bailey lately has said a bit less than usual about "Heavenly Houston." In heaven above where all is love there'll be no bayoux there.
He Would, But He Won't.
Apparently without hope of a blue sky law for Texas, Navasota Examiner-Review has the latest turn at the periodic warning that "the little fellow with a small bank account will make money by turning a deaf ear to the alluring pleadings of the average seller of stocks. It is the history of such deals that the little fellow loses and the man who is able to play a waiting game finally wins out." It is not in the power of the little fellow to save money by such denial and self-denial, any longer; the average seller sold him and got him in the habit and injured his ear's turning apparatus long syne, and about the only chance for him hereafter is for the State to protect his ear from assault. Judging from the postoffice department's last report on the sucker crop, the little fellow with the small bank account would have money in his pocket only if he had never been born, as Mark Twain (or was it Artemus Ward?) said of Columbus.

Stamp's Salutory Service.
Patriotically and progressively, Cleburne Review writes that "Postmaster General Burleson has placed an order for fifteen billion postage stamps" and "several of these ought to be used in sending out literature about Cleburne." Several, we should think. Also, congressmen generally burdensome have placed orders for (it seems, at least) almost as many pieces of franked matter and several of these will be used to send in literature about themselves.
Let's Hop to Hopkins.
Bogata News grins at the report that "a Hopkins county farmer while digging a well the past week struck a meteor sixteen feet under ground, which the Sulphur Springs News claims is filled with crystallized gold and worth probably $1,000,000." The grin is between the lines, for no comment is attached and the conclusion must be that the Bogata brother finds the News's claim is the most interesting feature of the Hopkins county farmer's. We have noted no rush along the trail to Hopkins.

IN THE LOCAL COURTS

WEST WILL PASS ON LIQUOR APPLICATIONS DURING ABSENCE OF DENTON.
Several Will Be Heard This Morning. No Contests Have Been Made.
Frank T. West was elected special judge of the county court at a meeting of the Waco Bar association yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of passing on the application of liquor dealers for renewal of licenses. A number of licenses over the county expire today, and in some instances the application of the holders for renewal has not been acted upon. Judge George N. Denton, presiding judge of the county court, is in Corpus Christi, attending a meeting of the good roads enthusiasts of the state, and will not return before Saturday.
In the event that no action was taken upon the licenses today, several saloons in the city would be compelled to close until the judge returns.
Mr. West announced he will hear applications for licenses at 9 o'clock this morning. There are five or six applications to be heard.
So far there has been no contest in the renewal of any licenses where permit to apply has been secured from the comptroller.
Application of A. T. Curry for the transfer of his liquor license from Austin street to Third and Mary was filed yesterday.

WEST WILL PASS ON LIQUOR APPLICATIONS DURING ABSENCE OF DENTON.
Several Will Be Heard This Morning. No Contests Have Been Made.
Frank T. West was elected special judge of the county court at a meeting of the Waco Bar association yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of passing on the application of liquor dealers for renewal of licenses. A number of licenses over the county expire today, and in some instances the application of the holders for renewal has not been acted upon. Judge George N. Denton, presiding judge of the county court, is in Corpus Christi, attending a meeting of the good roads enthusiasts of the state, and will not return before Saturday.
In the event that no action was taken upon the licenses today, several saloons in the city would be compelled to close until the judge returns.
Mr. West announced he will hear applications for licenses at 9 o'clock this morning. There are five or six applications to be heard.
So far there has been no contest in the renewal of any licenses where permit to apply has been secured from the comptroller.
Application of A. T. Curry for the transfer of his liquor license from Austin street to Third and Mary was filed yesterday.

Some Very Important Facts As To the Wearing of Glasses

Dr. W. B. Georgia & Co.'s Fifth Annual Offer on Spectacle Frames and Eyeglass Mountings Proving To Be of Great Educational Value To Those In Need of Glasses.

Hundreds of People From All Parts of Central Texas Taking Advantage of Reduced Prices.

Special Offer Expires Monday, July 28

Dr. W. B. Georgia & Co. have been located in Waco for the past five years. No firm in Texas enjoys a cleaner reputation for square, fair and honorable dealings than does this well known optical firm. This firm believes in educating the public along the advanced methods in examining the eyes, nerve system, etc. We all know that there is nothing in the world that will mar the feature and make the human face look hideous like an ill-fitting pair of spectacles. There are hundreds upon hundreds of people in Waco and elsewhere who are injuring their eyes and disturbing the eye's nerve system by wearing a pair of glasses that was made for someone else and which does not conform to their own facial peculiarities, and it is to these people whom our offer is appealing to the most strongly. If you have headache, dizziness and nervousness it may be due to the improper adjustment of your frame. In this offer you do not pick your frames up off the counter, but instead have them made to your individual measurements.

Here are the prices which will prevail until Monday, July 14: Aluminum cable temple frames, regular price $1.50, special 50c; aluminum gold filled nose piece, regular price $1.50, special 75c; gold filled wire temple frames, regular price $3.00, special $1.50; permanent guaranteed 14-karat gold filled cable temple frames, regular price $4.00, special $2.00; nose glass mountings, the latest invention, off and on with one hand without holding or soiling the lenses, regular price $3.00, special $1.50. Now do not be misled in the belief that we furnish you the various kind of lenses at the above prices, for we do not. We insert your own lenses if you have them; otherwise we charge you the usual price for lenses if we furnish them.

Look for the big spectacle sign, Dr. W. B. Georgia & Co., optometrists and lens grinders, No. 224 Austin—between N. and E. streets—opposite Saner Bros.

Note:—Hundreds of out-of-town people are taking advantage of our special offer and we would therefore advise home people who can conveniently do so to call during the morning hours. Office hours 8 a. m. to 1 p. m.; afternoon from 2 to 6:30 p. m.

FINAL DAY BEST OF BIG REUNION

HUNDREDS AT MCGREGOR WITH THE HEROES WHO WORE THE GRAY.

PAT M. NEFF IS SPEAKER

Wacoan Chooses "Texas" as Subject of Address—Resolutions of Thanks and Appreciation Passed.

McGregor, July 10.—The last day of the reunion of Confederate Veterans and Daughters and Sons of the Confederacy was the greatest day of the three. The grounds were packed with people from all parts of the county and veterans continued to arrive, running the total registered up to 165.

The feature of the morning program was the address of Pat M. Neff of Waco, who took for his subject, "Texas."

In the afternoon the regular business meeting of the McLennan County Confederate association was held, the principal business being the election of officers. All officers and the members of the board were re-elected. J. T. Rogers of Waco was elected to fill the vacancy in the board caused by the death of T. C. Smith and Mrs. Albert Stubbfield of McGregor was elected to fill the vacancy caused by Miss Marie Yarbally moving away.

The following is the list of the officers and members of the board of directors of the McLennan County Confederate association: Seth P. Mills, president; J. C. Alexander of McGregor, first vice president; J. M. Moore of Waco, second vice president; C. L. Johnson of Waco, third vice president; Thomas P. Stone, secretary; George N. Denton, treasurer; P. P. Lyon, McGregor; J. P. Guldridge of McGregor, J. P. Cunningham, McGregor; Mrs. Albert Stubbfield of McGregor, S. L. McKelg of Ross, Mrs. J. M. Deveny of West, J. Denton of West, Mrs. Matthew King of West, and Joe Coleman of Mart, board of directors.

The veterans adopted a resolution of thanks for the treatment they received from the McGregor people, and from the Daughters of the Confederacy. A separate resolution was adopted thanking the Baylor band for the music furnished during the reunion. The following resolution was spread on the minutes of the meeting:

Resolution of Thanks.

"We desire to extend a vote of thanks to the people of McGregor and the surrounding country for their unbounded hospitality in entertaining, and especially do we make mention of the Daughters of the Confederacy and other ladies for their untiring devotion to our every need."

To the Baylor band, a resolution was extended the following:

"We, the Confederate veterans and citizens, extend a hearty vote of thanks to the Baylor band for its splendid music rendered at this reunion and for its prompt response and gentled courtesy on every occasion."

General Felix Robertson addressed the veterans after the meeting of the Confederate association. General Robertson had just returned from the Gettysburg reunion, and made an interesting talk on his experiences there.

In closing, he said:

"I am anxious that future generations will be taught the truth concerning the civil war. I hope that our mistakes will be brought out for the benefit of those who come after us, but I hope the south will not be misrepresented. I, myself, have learned to forgive and it is one of the greatest joys of my life that I can truthfully say, 'All is forgiven.' If there are any of you old soldiers who have not experienced this great pleasure you are missing a great privilege. We did nobly—let us hold no grudges."

The visitors to the convention have all been exceptionally well cared for. No effort was spared that would add to the comfort of the old soldiers that wore the gray, and to a man they praised the treatment received at the hands of McGregor people.

A number of the veterans failed to get away tonight, and arrangements were made to provide them with sleeping accommodations and meals until they leave.

Bowen Asks Questions; Wants Mezes To Answer

Newspaper Man of Arlington Quizzes President of the State University On the Pending Bond Resolution.

Arlington, July 10.—W. A. Bowen, editor of the Farmers' Fireside and Bulletin, has written the following open letter to President Mezes:

"I am writing you this open letter because it is being very assiduously circulated over the state by proponents of S. J. R. No. 18 to amend Articles 49 and 52, Section III of the constitution that the position to this amendment is adopted to be a choice for most of the people of the land, how could it legally be beneficiary of bonds predicated on such lands?"

"The statements have been made that if this amendment is adopted the Agricultural & Mechanical College will be paid out of the income of the state institutions without costing the taxpayers a cent. Will you please say whence is coming the money to pay the interest and sinking funds on bonds issued for educational institutions under the University?"

"You express surprise about the A. & M. College and say that it should be preserved. Did you encourage any attempt that was made during the meeting of the legislature to destroy the Agricultural & Mechanical College by merging it with your institution?"

"As a matter of fact does the proposed amendment specifically provide that the interest on the bonds you propose to issue for the University will be paid out of the income from the University lands and endowment, or does it merely state that such proceeds shall be available for that purpose?"

"If influences are sufficiently powerful to persuade the legislature, might not they lawfully provide funds from the general revenue to meet the interest and provide a sinking fund for money spent for buildings on the University campus?"

"Will you please give the total revenue derived from the University land and permanent fund by years for the past ten years? Also show the amount of such funds that was used in erecting permanent structures on the University campus; and if these statements show that there is any considerable amount of money in excess of what was spent for buildings, will you please say why the needs for building, which you say was met by using the fund, was not met by using the money?"

"Could not one good building a year be constructed from such income? If so why are you building such on the University campus? Did you permit your student body to use the campus for an advertised public meeting at which the chief executive of the state was held up to ridicule by connecting his name with a shack?"

"How many persons have been graduated at the University in the ten years ending in 1911? How many of these graduated as lawyers? How many graduated at the medical college?"

"I am giving this to the press the same day I send it to you, because you will concur with me that the matter is certainly of sufficient interest to the voters of Texas to justify and excuse any seeming breach of courtesy in taking the above course. Very sincerely yours,

"W. A. BOWEN."

Mr. Geo. Dole Wadley President Southern States Cotton Corporation Returns From Europe

Announces That All Arrangements Have Been Made to Finance the Cotton for 1913.

Only Remains for the Cotton Grower to Do His Part to Make 15c Cotton a Certainty.

The arrival of Mr. George Dole Wadley, president Southern States Cotton Corporation, from Europe is an event of unusual importance to the entire South, carrying with it the assurance that all arrangements have been made for the financing of the cotton under the plan of the corporation. Mr. Wadley stated:

"I found no difficulty in reaching people who were not only able but willing to undertake this business. The point to be settled was the amount of financing which would be necessary. My proposition was that they enter into a firm contract with me on the part of the Southern States Cotton Corporation for financing five hundred thousand bales of cotton, that they were to give me a supplementary paper which would state upon the fulfillment of the contract by the Southern States Cotton Corporation they would then finance any additional amount of cotton on the same terms which the Southern States Cotton Corporation might be able to deliver. This contract was accepted, duly signed by us, and certified by the American consul."

"After the contract had been signed one of the gentlemen who is party to it stated to me that he believed when the Southern States Cotton Corporation had delivered the five hundred thousand bales of cotton, and that the world knew positively that we were able to finance the cotton in any amount there would be no necessity for any larger loans, although they would be prepared to make them; that he believed the security of cotton under the plan of the Southern States Cotton Corporation the best collateral for loans of anything he knew."

"As a result of these negotiations I believe that the Southern people can now secure the value for their cotton and it only remains for them to sell to the corporation under the terms of the contract their cotton in any amount. If this is done in sufficient quantities to establish the price of 15 cents per pound, the cotton raisers of the South have in the future nobody to blame but themselves."

CONTRACT YOUR COTTON—ATTEND THE GREAT CONVENTION. DALLAS, JULY 10-12, and see for yourself the wonderful progress of the plan throughout the South.

Telephone Man's View of Public Service Concern

(By J. E. Farnsworth, General Manager S. W. Tel. & Tel. Co.)

Upon the public relations of the Southwestern Telephone & Telegraph company, which is placed upon the part this corporation plays as a citizen in every town and city wherein an exchange is maintained.

By the policy of the company as outlined in the conduct of the department of public relations, it is the purpose to make the Southwestern Telephone & Telegraph company a good citizen of Texas—worthy of respect, a hearing and a chance for life at the hands of the public—those who grant to the company its right to live.

Perform as you may, give service and operate as the limit of physical power may determine, it is useless and unprofitable unless this element of public relations is considered, because you act without appreciation. What is more, one's level best without the understanding and consideration of the public, is never equal to the effort of the representative of the company who has the sympathy, the co-operation of its subscribers. Without proper public relations the best service is impossible.

We have all heard the argument as it applies to service, but it goes much further. The collections of a manager who holds himself aloof from the requirements of public policy never reach the attainment of the manager who works with his people, whose position is understood, who stands well in his community. It is easy, in fact, it is the first inclination, to "stand off" a human being. It is natural to try to hold a friend at arm's length, a contract solicitor who does not understand the principle of his work is likely to assume the attitude of a public official who, in the arrogance of high position, imagines the friendliness of the public, forming a barrier between him and the streets declaring with the elder Vanderbilt, "The public be hanged." He would not last a day after he was found out.

The company is selling service, trying to please. Every man and every woman in the organization is part of this selling for this purpose. The time has come when the entire company is in the position of the contract agent. Except as the proper public relations develop the same cordial feeling as ought to exist between the seller and the buyer—the company might as well give up the field along with the contract agent who insults those every business principle dictates he should please.

Fundamental Principle of Business.

"That is what we mean by public relations—publicity. It is as ridiculous to assume that this department is intended and organized to get free advertising, temporary strategic advantage and advance the individual cause of individuals, as it is to suppose that a company would invest and expose every dollar worth of property purchased to the dangers of confiscation or destruction as it is kicked out of business in much the same way as an insulting contract agent would be kicked out of an office."

The Southwestern Telephone & Telephone company ought to have a side to its argument. If it is a good citizen of every community, it has a right to be heard and a standing in every court, organized or unorganized, in which the case is tried before a jury of twelve men or before the great jury of all the people.

The lawyer tries his case before twelve men. The man who has charge of the public relations of such a company as this is trying his case in the greatest of all courts—before every man or woman who uses the telephone. And he is trying it largely upon the methods of operation. Some may think that public—public relations represent a luxury, doubtful in its value, easily dispensed with and without definite result.

The truth is, that the business of the company depends upon its public relations, just as the business of any merchant depends upon the advertising he does, the trade he commands by his efforts and the appreciation he is able to gain.

It is this so what we have heretofore considered as the vital principle in the telephone business—that of earning enough to survive—actually depends upon something we have until comparatively recently overlooked, none so important as going further, even this is discounted unless we have appreciation which comes from the right character of public sentiment.

Here is the very life of the company, its ability to profit, its chances for success or failure. The maintenance of proper public relations and the conduct of the publicity department, is vital, because for all the cry of "service first," good service is barren of results without the appreciation, the understanding, the co-operation which comes when a company, as a citizen of every community, works side by side with every other citizen or individual of that community and works, honestly, for the general good.

Mistaken Ideas Prevail.

It is taken that too many who are ready enough to accept the principles laid down, are all too ready to carry them too far. They believe that every little act, every individual effort, every personal sacrifice demands immediately its notice in the newspapers and its reward for the public.

This is not so. The publicity department can go just as far as modest effort may direct. The moment the bounds are transgressed, the whole company is placed in the light of a self-seeking citizen—one who holds his acts as of more importance than those of any other individual. How soon such a person loses the respect of his community?

What is more, the policy of public relations does not direct itself toward the making of excuses. Nothing is more abhorrent. In doing so we would be going before the public with mistakes always apparent to the whole world, and we would be in the guise of one who seeks to cover his own.

The idea is that by systematic effort we may gain consideration—naturally, just as any modest person would. We can only anticipate trouble by living so we can look every man in the face and—smile. What we want to get is the smile that answers back.

There are those who are prone to scoff at the appreciation of anything but temporary or immediate advantage. Such men as these produce dividends which require disinfection and leave to their successors the heritage of ill-will which makes permanent success an impossibility, and produce the same as official fight for their very existence in places of power, for further and greater excesses until the stockholders are betrayed to ruin and millions are lost which could, in honesty and public policy, have been protected.

This is not a question of today—it is part of the battle for company existence and the maintenance of the individual jobs of every individual employee. We talk about the "outstanding" in collections against each different exchange. Let us think about the outstanding in ill-will against the whole company.

And remember this, that just as sure as night comes after day, outstanding in collections, failure to make gain in securing new business, had service everything in fact—depends upon the amount outstanding in unpopularity against the company as a citizen in each different community.

The proper policy of right public relations tends gradually to cut this "outstanding" of ill-will down. To carry out this idea, it is itself demands the appreciation from within the company, for what it means. Our standing before the public cannot be improved except as every man and woman who represents the company understands what it is intended to do, and does it. Every offense against the public is a violation of a strict business principle and reacts upon every employee who may ever come in contact with any who may have even heard of the offense.

Are We Entitled to a Fair Hearing?

Sentiment is crystallized law. In fact, law is, in theory, nothing more than crystallized sentiment. Legislation framed by those without acquaintance or the willingness to learn of actual conditions, would drive any corporation out of existence. The public relations of the Southwestern company seek to combat prejudice and to command a fair hearing. Unless we cultivate the right public relations, the company is like a giant, flaccid, fat, helpless, slow and unavailing, at the mercy of an unheeding law.

Other giants have fallen before because they failed to appreciate the fact that they must keep in training. The Southwestern Telephone & Telegraph company is a giant in Texas, but it must be a good giant and one of sense as well as skill. It cannot afford to be a bully because it expects to be scorned. It must perform thinking. It owes itself this knowledge—that it must gain the respect of the public before it can profit by its size. It must be a good citizen in proportion to what it is. Because it is so, it must be just so much more the better. It must be just, discriminating, courageous, yielding.

Thus the public relations of the company become just so much more the vital. The employee or the official who fails to appreciate the importance of this work, lacks the essential qualities which go to make a real public servant and every man who works for a public service corporation is a public servant.

Courtesy, judgment, sense and ability are more necessary than the bare accumulation of knowledge. Almost anyone, given time, can acquire the skill necessary to the machine-like manipulation of a machine.

Stand or Fall—Which?

The Southwestern company, and every other corporation for that matter, stands or falls as the public relations give ground for the appreciation of service rendered at the price. It is futile to say that we must consider the earnings of just one year and let the future take care of itself. It is useless to command regard for what no one recognizes as being fair.

We do not occupy our places to make a record in figures for a short time and then quit. The Southwestern company has just one way for continued existence, for continued growth, for prosperity, and that is to perform its part in the upbuilding of the country as the system brings men and women together in a spirit of mutual understanding. What is necessary is to get in this condition of general and growing appreciation for the rights of one another.

That is what the public relations of the Southwestern company contemplate. That means permanent success. No other single element in the work of any official or employee means more, yet in the past many of us have let other subjects engross us to the exclusion of this idea.

GETTING GRAY? USE SAGE TEA TO RESTORE NATURAL COLOR OF HAIR

Says Sage and Sulphur Darkens Hair Beautifully and Ends Dandruff.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair, says a well-known local pharmacist. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful and even today this simple preparation has no equal. Millions of women and men, too, who value that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Nowadays we are not bothered with the task of gathering the sage leaves and the mussy mixing at home. Simply ask at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of the ready to use preparation, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." Customers like this best because it darkens so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it contains ingredients which take off dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. No, it isn't a dye or even like it. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with the "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two it is restored to its natural color.

What delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that besides beautifully darkening the hair, they say it brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Austin, July 10.—A brace of extra base hits, coupled with timely singles and a wild throw by Jost, gave the Austin Senators three runs today, while the Navigators were unable to do a thing with Taylor, and were shut out again. Only two Waco players reached third base. McLaurin went there in the first on a triple, but two were down, and Dugue got there in the sixth, when he and McLaurin walked and worked a double steal.

Austin scored two in the first on a hit sacrifice and a triple by James. The other score was made in the sixth when Hornhorst tripled and Cook singled to center with two down.

Hornhorst had a great day with the bat, getting two singles and a triple out of four times up. Brainerd and Brownlow played a great fielding game for Austin.

New York, July 10.—Chicago broke New York's winning streak here today, the champions dropping a close game, 3 to 2. Prior to today's game New York had won 14 straight, while Mathewson was stopped after winning seven straight. Smith was ably assisted by his support. Chicago won in the sixth on Miller's triple which scored two.

AMERICANS REACH SEMI-FINALS IN TENNIS MATCHES

Nottingham, Eng., July 10.—American players won their first two matches today against German in the semi-final round of the preliminary contest for the selection of a team to challenge England for the Dwight F. Davis international lawn tennis trophy, and stand more than a good chance of qualifying for the final round.

R. Norris Williams of Philadelphia and Harvard University, after a little trouble in the beginning of his match with Oscar Kreutzer and the loss of the third set, pulled out a winner in what after all was not a difficult contest. The American won his set by keeping the American in the back court, where there was no chance of volleying.

The more exciting match was that between Maurice E. McLoughlin of San Francisco, the American champion, and Otto Froitzheim, who is rated as the best player in Germany. In the beginning the German was able to get many backhand strokes over with great speed and also picked up the American's service easily.

McLoughlin showed a streak of brilliancy in the second set, but not until the middle of the third set did his turn come. From then on he went ahead and with his famous service and finely placed drives were his opponent down.

POOR AND RICH SENATORS.

Former Said to Have Been More Active and Distinguished.

(Albert H. Walker, in New York Times.)

Among the last 12 presidents of the United States, but two or three were poor in property when they were inaugurated and not one of them was really very rich. Among the senators of the United States who during the last 50 years have really conducted the business of that body a large majority were poor enough, and some were always destitute of productive estate. As senators of very small pecuniary means I will mention Sumner and Hoar of Massachusetts, Platt and Hawley of Connecticut, Morrill of Vermont, Conkling of New York, Culbom of Illinois, La Follette of Wisconsin, Daniel of Virginia, and Bacon of Georgia.

Senator Bacon is the oldest Democrat in the senate and for many years he has been the most generally active and useful Democratic member of that body. He still leads nearly all debates on the Democratic side. Few senators have so little property as he. On the other hand, Senator Stevenson is much the richest senator, but he never takes any part in the sessions.

BLACK LAND FARMS IN THE BISHOP COUNTRY; RICH SOIL. LOW INTEREST; REASONABLE

TERMS—Assured cotton and feed crops are abundant in the Bishop country by the splendid rains. Farmers who are cultivating their lands for the second and third years, are counting on a bale to the acre, if present prospects continue. The farmers who are building up this rich section are, with few exceptions, experienced Texas black land farmers, who have come from Central and North Texas, to take part in development of this territory and reap good profits from their industry.

Here we have bought land at reasonable prices, as others are doing, with SIX PER CENT INTEREST on their deferred payments, and the land is turned over to them broken, ready for cultivation. Another feature: On sales made at this time, after the first cash payment is made, no other payment is to be made until November 1, 1915. After that date payments are made annually and run until November 1, 1921.

All notes are made payable "ON OR BEFORE," so that the purchaser can take them up in whole or in part, as he may be able or inclined.

It is no exaggeration or misrepresentation to say that the amount now being paid as rent by many farmers will practically take care of deferred payments on Bishop land, after the first payment is made.

The city of Bishop, only three years old, has a population approximating 2,000; it is the center of this rich black land farming section, which has been christened "THE BISHOP COUNTRY," and already has magnificent schools, a complete modern sewerage system, graded streets, cement sidewalks, a splendid hotel and more than 200 miles of good roads leading along all section lines and making the city easily accessible to the thrifty farmers who live along the roads. Bishop has an abundant and pure artesian water supply, good churches and all the advantages, even more, than are possessed by many cities of 10,000 population.

Full and reliable information about both country and city can be had by writing or call in person.

F. Z. BISHOP, Bishop, Texas.

IN COTTON MARKET

MARKET REMAINS FEATURELESS ENTIRE DAY—SHOWERS AFFECT PRICE.

Range Is From Three to Five Points Off at Start, but Close Is Up Because of Balkan War.

New York, July 10.—No fresh feature of importance developed in the cotton market so far as reflected by today's trading. Business remained comparatively quiet, and fluctuations were more or less irregular, but advances appeared to meet considerable realizing, while in the late trading there seemed to be some local pressure on reports of scattering showers and lower temperatures in the southwest.

After opening 3 points higher to 2 points lower, the market settled about 3 to 5 points under the closing figures of yesterday as a result of realizing, but there was no aggressive pressure and the appearance of moderate buying orders in the hands of trade soon caused a rally. The failure of the official weather map to confirm private reports of numerous showers in Texas and Oklahoma and rather more favorable advices from the Balkans helped the upturn which carried prices about 1 to 2 points net higher. Offerings became heavier around 11:55 for October, however, and the market eased off in the late trading on expectations that tomorrow's weather report would be more favorable and rumors that the scattering short interest had been pretty well covered. Closing prices showed a net loss of 2 to 5 points, and were at practically the lowest of the day on the near post.

Reports from Houston that the first new bale of the season was received there today, about eight days later than last year, seemed to attract attention to the possibility of a light movement during August, and one of the trading features was switching of October shorts into the later months. Liverpool will remain closed until next Monday.

New Orleans.

New Orleans, July 10.—The price of cotton moved slightly within a narrow limit today. Little speculative feeling was in evidence and there was little business.

The one feature of interest was the receipt of the first bale of the new crop at Houston. It was forwarded from Cameron county, Texas, and was a week later than the first bale of last year. It caused a little selling because it was accompanied by the report that much cotton about to open and that in a few days many new bales would come on the market. The opening was steady, with prices unchanged to 2 points down, compared with yesterday's close on poor cables and the news regarding the Balkan situation. The weather map indicated that good rains have fallen in Arkansas, which has been the main factor in the market, and they stimulated selling of the new crop months. Little interest was taken in the old crops at any stage of the session. In the early trading prices went to a level 6 points under yesterday's close, but later the market recovered and toward noon stood at 4 points over yesterday's last quotations. In the afternoon the market was dull. The close was steady at a net loss of 3 to 5 points.

IN THE GRAIN MARKET

BULLISH FIGURES ON CROPS FORCE PRICES OF WHEAT UP—OATS LOWER.

Great Volume of Export Grain Also Causes Quotations to Go Higher. Hogs Cheaper—Free Selling.

Chicago, July 10.—Wheat prices advanced today on account of bullish crop figures and because of aroused foreign demand. The close, although easy, was 1/4c to 1/2c above last night's close.

Corn finished 1/4c up. Oats off 1/4c and provisions varying from 7/8c decline to a rise of 15 cents. Highest quotations of the day in wheat came after the discovery that export business was being counted in millions of bushels and included newly harvested number two red, which has heretofore been neglected. Sections east of Chicago were reported to have sold for ocean shipment more soft wheat than ever before in a corresponding time. Apparently the foreign buying was largely due to the low estimate Washington put on the probable yield in the spring crop states. There also were discouraging advices concerning the harvest outlook in Europe, especially France.

There was only one important setback. This occurred soon after the opening and resulted from country dealers sending in liberal acceptances on bids for the new crop. Commission firms, however, were selling rather freely toward the close.

Corn rallied sharply with wheat, because arrivals were small. At first the market was at the mercy of the bears, many longs unloaded, spurred on by the government reports.

Outs broke with corn but failed to recover all the loss.

Barring an erratic upturn in July pork, weakness ruled provisions, because of cheaper hogs.

COTTON SEED PRODUCTS.

New York, July 10.—Cotton seed oil was strong and higher today on an active demand from old crop shorts, which prompted new speculative buying in the later months. There was some selling of October for export account, but it failed to check the rise as the compound trade continues good. Tenders of about 1000 barrels were made on July contracts. Sales amounted to 16,500 barrels, and closing figure was 4 to 12 points higher. IN THE STOCK MARKET

CONDITION BETTERS BOTH IN UNITED STATES AND ABROAD. DEMAND IS BRISK.

Prices Soar—Wilson's Attitude Toward Preventing Strike on Eastern Roads Important Factor.

New York, July 10.—Both at home and abroad there was an improvement in conditions affecting stock market values. The betterment was sufficiently pronounced in the reflection of price movements, although the low point to which trading has fallen and the absence of outside interest in the market precluded an extended and vigorous advance. During the first hour of the day there was brisk demand and prices rose smartly. Canadian Pacific, yesterday's weak feature, bounded up 2 1/2 and Union Pacific nearly as much. Other prominent mediums of speculation rose a point or more. The demand soon fell off and prices reacted. The market came to a standstill on the downward swing, and during the remainder of the session changes were small, but part of the day's advance was retained in most cases.

The action taken by President Wilson in the hope of averting a strike of conductors and trainmen on the eastern railroads was rated as the most important influence on the constructive side of the market. The extension lately of the short interest made possible a successful drive at the bears, and this was largely responsible for the swiftness of the early rise. Although the monthly statement of the United States Steel corporation showed a falling off in unfilled orders of 150,000 tons, bringing back the amount to the smallest in a year, the showing was well in line with expectations and did not influence the market. A late decline was led by New York Central, which made a new low record for the year at 95 1/2, after receipts of news from Washington of Senator Norris' proposal for an investigation into the road's contemplated bond issue in connection with the consolidation of the New York Central and Lake Shore. Brighter prospects for peace in the Balkans and the Bank of England's strong bullish statement, however, reflected in the better tone of the foreign markets. Bonds showed some improvement, but the demand was light. Total sales, par value, $1,565,000. United States two advanced 1/4 on call to 98 1/2.

LIVESTOCK.

Fort Worth, July 10.—Thursday lived up to its usual reputation by piling on the most liberal receipts of the week with the best lot consignments predominating.

Around 4,000 cattle and 500 calves were offered, the cattle crop being well up to trade requirements, though more calves could have been used to advantage. The market was stronger from start to finish, buyers trying to secure all matured stock on a lower basis, but succeeding in establishing only a weaker undertone. Steers, both for stocker and beef purposes, were barely steady, bulls were unchanged, cows and heifers were weak to 10 cents lower and calves strong. On beef steers the price range was $4.45 to $7.25, stocker steers $5.00 to $6.50, butcher cows $3.75 to $5.50 to $6.50, to $5.50, and calves $4.25 to $7.50.

Despite the fact that hog receipts amounted to a meager 500 head the market was hammered to a finish, seller stock mostly 25 cents up. Wednesday's basis. The decline was forced in order to bring the Fort Worth basis in line with other markets. One or two cars sold at $9.00 for a top and other deals were around $8.75 to $9.50.

Sheep sold on an active and steady market. The supply was small and of only fair quality.

About 500 head arrived.

AMONG WHOLESALE

HOME RAISED OATS AND HAYS PROVE TO BE SUPERIOR TO OUTSIDE PRODUCTS.

Grasshopper Is Too Late and Will Have to Stand the Disappointment.

Scorching weather yesterday simply put everybody out of commission, and wholesalers just didn't seem to care whether school kept or not.

It was too hot to even eat watermelon, and that's some hot. The hot weather has cut short the local watermelon, those appearing on the streets showing up rather small and lacking in healthy color, but a car that was sidetracked at the Cox & Co. building yesterday are as large and fine as could be asked for. They came from South Texas.

A few loads of oats appeared on the public square yesterday and brought 36@36 1/2c. The farmer who raised them stated that oats were weighing out very heavy this year. Usually four and one-half bushels (in weight) is as much as an oat sack will hold, this year he says he can easily put the weight of five bushels in a sack.

A grain dealer of Waco is authority for the statement that Texas alfalfa this year is general superior in quality to any shipped in from other states. It seems that retail merchants who handle produce on consignment are regarded under the new law as commission merchants.

A farmer from near Crawford reports the appearance of grasshoppers in his section, but says they are too late to damage cotton, as it is too far advanced, and corn is made. "So," he said, "the hopper will have to stand the disappointment—not the farmer."

Among the out-of-town merchants visiting the various wholesale concerns of the city yesterday may be mentioned:

Cooper Grocery Co.—S. E. Powers of Hillsdale.

Waco Drug Co.—J. W. D. Permenter of Purdon.

C. H. Cox & Co.—L. A. Harvey of Bruceville and Babina Roquez of

MUST DESIGNATE OFFICE SOUGHT

UNDER CHARTER CANDIDATES WILL MAKE DIRECT RACE. PLACE SYSTEM GOES.

IN LINE WITH SUGGESTIONS

Many of Mayor's and Officers' Recommendations Adopted—Others Are Killed.

If the recommendations of the charter committee are adopted, the new charter of Waco will contain the provision that the four city commissioners be designated by name, and their duties as such will be defined. The charter committee last night decided on this course, and adopted the following names to specify the title of each city commissioner: Finance Commissioner, Commissioner of Public Health, Fire and Police Commissioner and Street Commissioner.

The only change in name of the public officials to be provided for in the new charter is that changing the name of sanitary commissioner to commissioner of public health. This change was made after discussion, it being stated that the duties of this office were so varied that the title should convey some meaning other than sanitary.

The measure also provides that when a candidate shall announce for office he shall designate the place or position on the commission to which he aspires.

Follows Recommendations.

The change is in line with recommendations presented to the charter revision committee by the board of city commissioners. The recommendations were prepared by the mayor and all commissioners except Commissioner J. A. Littlefield, he being absent from the city.

Under the present plan, a candidate runs for a place on the commission and his title and duties are assigned by the mayor.

The committee considered as the business of the meeting the recommendations of the commissioners. These were lengthy and covered many important phases of the city charter. The greater number of these, however, had been passed upon by the committee. Others had not and in many instances the recommendations of the commission were adopted.

The recommendation coming from the commissioners asking first that the charter provided be a commission charter, was not accepted.

The suggestion was made that the charter provide that all officers except the board of water commissioners and the board of city commissioners be appointive officers. This recommendation was not accepted.

Poling Places Increased. The committee decided to increase the number of polling places in the city, or rather to give the commission power to do so. To this end the charter was made to provide that there be not less than six polling places nor more than fifteen. There are six polling places now and the need of better voting facilities was stressed by the committee.

The committee also wrote into the charter the provision giving the mayor power to suspend from office any elective officer who may fail to carry out the duties of his office. The further power was granted commissioners to suspend any department employee who does not do his duty. The recommendation of the commissioners was to place this power within the mayor's hands. Instead, however, the committee favored giving the commissioners more power.

The committee also adopted a provision requiring all occupation licenses to be posted in a conspicuous place in the business house for which the permit is secured.

Present at the meeting were A. R. McCollum, chairman; E. E. Carroll, Louis Migel, Forrest Goodman, Peyton Randle and Judge Marshall Surratt, attorney for the board.

YESTERDAY WAS HOTTEST DAY

Thermometer Reaches 106 Degrees in Shade—Heat Causes Much Suffering.

Yesterday was the hottest July day in Waco for twenty-three years. The thermometer registered 106 degrees in the shade. Coming after several days of exceptionally high temperature, the heat yesterday caused much suffering, although no prostrations in Waco's vicinity were reported, with the exception of one case, which was pronounced a complication of overheat and heart disease.

With the breaking of the record for the month of July came a much appreciated relief, when, about 5 o'clock a cool breeze from the south brought a light shower and a decidedly lower temperature. Last night was the most pleasant in Waco for more than a week.

According to Dr. I. Block, weather observer, the spell is broken and cooler weather and showers may be counted upon.

NEGRO'S FIRST VICTIM IN WACO FROM HEAT WAVE

The extreme heat, coupled with a weak heart, caused the death of John Muse, a negro, yesterday at 1 o'clock. Muse, who was about 75 years old, died from an attack which seized him just as he stepped from a delivery wagon at 606 Elm street, East Waco. The man had been employed "doing chores" in East Waco Wednesday, but was not working yesterday. He was riding on a delivery wagon with another negro and had just gotten out of the seat to alight from the wagon when the attack came. He died before medical attention could be called.

Physicians summoned were of the opinion the man died from heat and a weak heart.

Muse had lived in Waco for perhaps forty-five years. He was an old-time slave and well known by many white people here.

Justice J. J. Padgett conducted an inquest, but has not returned a verdict.

PEERLESS TAKES IT OVER JAN. 1

PROVIDENT DEAL IS EFFECTIVE FIRST OF YEAR—PLANS ARE BEING DRAWN.

Clarence H. Cox, president of the Peerless Fire Insurance company, announced yesterday that the Provident building will be taken over by the new purchasers January 1, 1914.

Under the terms of the deal that has just been closed, the new owners of the building will be given possession at that time. Until then work is to be pushed on the plans for remodeling the building. Architect Roy E. Lane having the working drawing under preparation. The new owners expect to make it an attractive office building, and to offer improved accommodations for the tenants now in the building.

The announcement of the purchase of the building created a great deal of talk during the day, and the officers of the Peerless Fire Insurance company and the board of directors of the Provident are being asked to make the deal public.

The recommendation of the commission was to place this power within the mayor's hands. Instead, however, the committee favored giving the commissioners more power.

The suggestion was made that the charter provide that all officers except the board of water commissioners and the board of city commissioners be appointive officers. This recommendation was not accepted.

STEPS BEFORE ENGINE AND HE IS GROUND TO PULP

MAN KILLED BY KATY TRAIN IS BELIEVED TO BE H. SMITH.

A white man thought to be H. Smith, a laborer at one time employed by the city, was struck and instantly killed by northbound Missouri Kansas & Texas passenger train No. 8 two miles south of Waco at 3:44 o'clock yesterday morning. The man's body was ground to pieces beneath the wheels of the engine and several coaches.

Justice J. J. Padgett conducted an inquest over the remains at 5 o'clock in the morning and again later in the day took testimony of Engineer J. B. Loftin who was driving the train. The justice has not rendered his verdict in the inquest.

According to the testimony of the engineer the man deliberately committed suicide. His testimony was to the effect that the man was walking along the side of the track when he first saw him, but that when within about 100 feet from the engine he stepped into the middle of the track, and, facing the onrushing train, raised his arms above his head. Engineer Loftin said he blew the whistle and rang the bell, but instead of getting off the track the man knelt down on his knees and crossed his arms before his forehead. The engineer said he applied the emergency brakes. The man lay down flat on the tracks on his face and stomach and stretched his body out full length, with his hands behind his head. The train passed over him before the brakes could bring it to a stop.

According to the engineer, the train was running at about eighteen or twenty miles an hour.

The identity of the man has not been thoroughly established. There were no papers or letters in his clothing to assist the coroner in the search to establish his identity. A laundry mark 6-171 was the only mark on his clothing. This mark was traced to the Artesian laundry where it was said a man giving the name of H. Smith used the mark.

Little was known of the man, but employees of the laundry said he lived on South Fourteenth street and had been sending his clothes to the laundry for about a month. It was also stated he had been employed by the city. This was not confirmed.

The dead man was between 45 and 47 years of age, about 5 feet 8 or 9 inches in height, had a light gray mustache, partially bald, with brown hair.

The body is being held at the Fall Undertaking establishment for identification.

Two Hurt When Auto Turns Over

While crossing a creek bridge on the Dallas road four miles north of town yesterday afternoon, a car driven by J. W. Mullins turned turtle, plunging off the bridge.

Mullins was badly bruised when thrown from the car and Miss Louise Carver of Marlin was cut and bruised. None of the injuries was serious. Miss Inez Woodard and R. E. Robertson, in the car, but both escaped unhurt.

J. W. Moore went to the scene of the accident and brought the party back to town.

Deaths and Burials

Mrs. Mattie Rogers. The funeral of Mrs. Mattie Rogers, aged 26 years, will be held this morning at 10 o'clock from the parlors of the Fall Undertaking establishment. Burial will be made in Oakwood cemetery.

M. H. Douglas.

M. H. Douglas died yesterday afternoon at 1:30 p. m. at the residence of his son, S. A. Douglas, 514 Washington street. He was subject to an attack of paralysis about a year ago and never recovered.

Mr. Douglas. Douglas was born in Seifio township, Meigs county, Ohio, February 1, 1839, being 75 years old. He was married in Meigs county in September, 1864, to Miss Sarah A. McCullough, an aunt of W. H. McCullough and County Judge Tom H. McCullough of this city. Three children were born, Prof. S. A. Douglas of this city, Mrs. G. L. Hopkins of Baltimore and the third dying in infancy.

He was a soldier during the civil war, serving the entire four years. After the war he turned to his farm in Dowington, Ohio, remaining there for thirty-six years. He came to Texas in 1901, locating in Falls county near Chilton. Living there until about a year ago when his condition necessitated bringing him to Waco, where he remained with his son. He died at the residence of his son, S. A. Douglas, 514 Washington street. Rev. C. T. Caldwell, assisted by Rev. Ashley Chappelle, will officiate. Burial will be made in Oakwood cemetery.

Funeral bearers are: Active, Rolla S. Grieg, Alex Fitzpatrick, Fred N. Oiler, Alfred Stoltz, Ira Elmer Smith, Frank Fitzpatrick, Edgar C. Rack, C. H. Schuler, honorary, Prof. C. H. P. Mrs. Ham Confirmed.

Washington, July 10.—Controversy over the postoffice at Gainesville, Ga., was settled today when the senate confirmed the nomination of Mrs. H. W. J. Ham to succeed Mrs. Helen D. Longstreet, widow of the Confederate general. Senator Townsend of Michigan, who held up the confirmation of Mrs. Ham pending the printing of hearings held by a subcommittee on the failure of Mrs. Longstreet to obtain reappointment. The subcommittee reported that Mrs. Longstreet had administered her office efficiently.

ADCRAPTERS ARE ENTERTAINED AT PARK

Delegates Who "Monopolized" Convention Tell How It Was Done—Program Feature of Week—Mackey Congratulates Admen—Mitchell Presides.

While Waco has realized to a great extent the work that the delegates to the Baltimore convention have done for it and Central Texas, more than for the entire population was at Cotton Palace Park yesterday evening to hear the story again, and do honor to the evangelists who returned from the national ad men's meeting at Baltimore several days ago.

The entertainment to the delegates was given by the first speaker, Mayor Mitchell, acted as chairman. Mayor Mitchell, as chairman, briefly explained the nature of the entertainment, outlining what had been accomplished for the good of Waco and Texas at the Baltimore convention and driving his points home with strength and humor. By the time he introduced the first speaker, Mayor J. H. Mackey, the original audience of 562 had swelled to nearly twice that number.

The Mayor's Speech. In introducing Mayor Mackey, the president of the advertisers paid compliment to his administration and to his readiness to advance Waco. Mayor Mackey said:

"There is an explanation for everything. I have been invited to explain to you in a few minutes the reason for this vast assemblage of the citizenship of Waco at Cotton Palace Park this evening. My friends, we are here to do honor to the bright wide awake, big hearted, philanthropic, progressive men who composed the Waco delegation to the national ad men's convention at Baltimore—the men who did things by staying on the job.

"These were the men who without money and without price gave so freely of their time and talents for the good of Waco; the men whose magnificent zeal and superior generalship challenged the admiration of the whole convention and enabled them to score a new victory every day; the men who at the same time created the most favorable and lasting good for their home city of any delegation present at Baltimore.

"Gentlemen, we are grateful to you; we are proud of you, and are thankful we are standing with you in the main. We are glad to see you here, realizing that with such men as those who composed the Baltimore delegation looking after our interests that it takes no stretch of imagination to see Waco teeming with her hundred and thousands of people, her sky line of smoke stacks, trimmed with myriads of dinner buckets.

"Yes, gentlemen, all Waco loves you and is glad to honor you this evening, and as parting word let me say to you that I hope you will all go home with a warm glow of feeling, you have in the hearts of the Waco people, may the good Lord have mercy on your souls."

Following Mayor Mackey's speech, Mitchell read a letter he had received from the president of the Dallas Ad Club, congratulating the Waco division upon the splendid showing its delegates had made at the convention and in return. He paid high tribute to the ingenuity displayed by the "Waco Adcrafters," as the Baltimore delegates called them, and said that the Central Texas metropolis, the city of Dallas, he said, stood ready to assist the local club whenever its support might be needed.

Hoffmann Talks.

"Heretofore, I have not thought much about the reputation of Waco. I have always hated to think much about them," President Mitchell said when he introduced W. H. Hoffmann, president of the Texas Cotton Palace.

"But I want to say I have changed; I think your postmaster is all right in sending you a letter. I never could understand why he was a Republican, but the manner in which he presented Waco's invitation to the president to come here in the fall and open the Cotton Palace reconciles me to Republicanism."

Hoffmann, advertiser, who invited the president to open the Texas Cotton Palace in the fall, spoke upon "The President of the United States As He Appeared to Me."

"When I left here, I did not have the faintest shadow of an idea what I should say to President Wilson. Each day I had put the thing on ice and had not thought much about it. Well, when I got on the train here, I concluded I had better do some thinking. But, who could have done any thinking on the Blue Bonnet Special? The train was so crowded that I never could persuade a thought to appear.

"Well, we got to Washington after being fated along the road to find that on Saturday Washington is politically dead, no audience could be arranged with the chief executive. Knowing that we could not see President Wilson before Monday, the delegation went to Baltimore for the opening day. Nine of us returned Monday and gave the president the invitation from Texas.

"Folks," Hoffmann continued, "the sure did look pleased. Looked like he was glad to see a bunch of men from a real live state. He told us that he had to decline all previous invitations, and that he might not be able to accept this one. But he said that he wanted to come to Texas and to Waco, and that if things could be swayed around he would be here for the opening. And I believe that he will come, if a way can be made."

He spoke for a few minutes longer, relating humorous incidents of the trip, and how the delegates were received at the different towns where they stopped.

Truth and Business—Providence.

The Adcrafter president then presented E. W. Providence, whom he dubbed "a near-preacher."

Mr. Providence spoke "About Sunday in Baltimore before the Convention." Truth, he said, had been made the keynote of the Adcrafter's religion, and he pointed out where "truth" is now having its weight in the business world, and is no longer confined to the sphere of religion. The pulpit of Baltimore on the Sunday before the convention, he said, was occupied by admen, who drove home the need of truth and ironclad truth in the business world, stressing the point that religion and business did go together. More than three-fourths of the speakers, he declared, paid tribute to Christ as the Savior of the world and the leader of everything good. The talks, he pointed out, had additional strength from the fact that they were made by men who had "knocked up against the world."

Crawford on Advertising.

W. H. Crawford, dubbed "advertising man and crook" by the master of ceremonies, followed.

While he subjected us to have shown "What the Convention is to a Practical Advertising Man," he declared the theme too lengthy and technical for brief discussion in the three minutes period allowed each speaker. It would be sufficient to say, he declared, that the convention accomplished every end that it had set out to do. He urged that immediate preparations be made to send a delegation of not less than one hundred members to the Toronto convention next year.

"If such a small contingent could accomplish so much good," he said in conclusion, "a larger one can do more for Waco."

"Interurbans"—Drake.

E. F. Drake next told the good that the trip to Baltimore had done. He said in part:

"Yes, it did good; more good than we shall probably ever know. When we left Waco, very few of us really knew each other. Twelve hours after we had been on the trip everyone was ready to pull off his coat and get down to solid work for Waco. For one thing, we make one another's acquaintance."

"When we got into West Virginia there was not one of us who did not look at the hillside farms and wonder why farmers are willing to till such ground when Central Texas welcomed them. In all of the little towns I noticed billboards near the stations telling of the advantages of the trip. It was willing to give for its needs. Many of them wanted interurbans, and I noticed that where there were interurbans prosperity was evident. Waco is not an interurban, and we should realize what it means to hold by Waco people. J. H. Riley of Waco and Central Texas."

H. Hagerdon, Jr., graphically described the various stunts that were staged at the convention. He related many interesting things about the features of the entertainment. He urged a delegation one hundred strong be sent to Toronto next year.

The "Business End of the Convention" was discussed by C. H. Cox. He pointed out the increase in business that the convention was sure to bring to the towns and people who figured in it, and help the meeting had been to the advertising men in pointing out new ideas that would be productive of result. He estimated that Baltimore alone received $265,000 worth of newspaper advertising during the convention and that the hotels received no less than $200,000 of advertising.

Clement and Cobblestones.

J. M. Clement declared that he had been more impressed with the cobblestones of Baltimore than with many of the convention features. He proceeded to give a humorous sketch of the delegates' march five miles down Baltimore streets paved with cobblestones.

Gas and Interurbans.

J. W. Barnett, affectionately known as the "Grandfather of the party," next spoke. He told of the educational features of the trip.

"This educational standpoint the trip had many advantages. When I got even as far as St. Louis, we were pretty full of education. There we took on more education. At Indianapolis our education was not neglected and the same was true of Cincinnati and Washington. At Cincinnati the newspapers gave us much publicity. Much of the good accomplished by our trip was through the newspaper advertising we were given. People who had never before heard of Waco, and but little of Texas, became acquainted with us through the papers."

Mr. Barnett also saw much to be derived from interurbans and cheaper gas. The electric lines, he said, had made the town of Wheeling, W. Va., he declared. Since the piping of gas into the town from fields eighteen miles distant, growth has been marked. He desires more action of the kind, but he declared, he did not want to see Waco become a factory town for women and children.

"Inside Information."

"When I was on my way back, a young man I knew here got on the train. He had his family with him. He is employed by the Katy at Bellevue. I asked him what he thought of Waco and he said that he thought Waco would be the commercial center of Texas in the near future. Well, I take it that what he told me is an inside tip from the Katy. The road must have something in store for Waco," Barnett said in conclusion.

A letter was read from W. A. Chatterton. He regretted that he was unable to be in town for the reception. He said that he believed much good had been accomplished by the excursion to Baltimore.

The Growth of Baltimore.

John Held, a former Baltimorean, told of the progress of that city within the last twenty years. During that time, he declared, Baltimore had jumped to a population of 700,000 and has spent the following sums in improvements: $20,000,000 for sewer work; $200,000 for a water supply; $12,000,000 for docks; $5,000,000 for paving; $5,000,000 in improving the additions; and $2,000,000 for underground work. If Waco spent the same amount, he said, the improvement would probably be more marked than it is at Baltimore.

Cullen Cooper related a number of instances connected with the convention.

"Waco, from all I could hear, monopolized the convention," he said.

R. E. Parker spoke for a few minutes upon the parks of the various cities that had been visited.

"That in my opinion," he said, "Waco cannot be beaten on Cameron park and its other playgrounds."

The evening was ended and the crowds dismissed by Sam Sanger, who paid high compliment to the work done by the Adcrafter delegates and the Ad club.

The Sanger Store Will Close Today at 1 O'clock Employees' Half Holiday

Today will be a short but busy business day at the Sanger Store. Bear in mind that all July Clearance Sale reductions are still in effect in every department of the store.
